

Gay Days Ahead For Newport in Sports Events

Tennis Tourney, Dog Show and Horse Exhibit All Crowded Into August and Early September

Several Charity Affairs

Much Entertaining Planned; Mary Lawrence Post to Wed Gerard Wallop To-day

Newport will have gay days in August and early September, for in addition to the many private entertainments planned there are a number of charitable affairs and sporting attractions scheduled that are of much interest to society. The tennis tournament begins August 9, the dog show will be held on the 21st and the annual horse show will be held September 2 to 3 on the Casino grounds.

The committee for the dog show consists of Mrs. Gustav J. S. White, Mrs. Michael Van Buren, Miss Alice Brownell, Miss Margaret Dunlap, Dr. H. P. Church and Dr. Philip E. Clark. Many donations in cups and cash prizes already have been received. Among the contributors are Mrs. R. Livingston Beckman, Mrs. R. Paul Andrews, Mrs. J. Francis A. Clark, Mrs. Edward J. Berwind, Mrs. Charles Moran, Mrs. Stuart Dunlap, Mrs. Joseph Harrison, Mrs. Arthur Curtis James and Mrs. Julia French Geraghty.

Miss Mary Lawrence Post, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waldron Kintz Post, will be married to Gerard Wallop Wallop to-day in St. John's Church, Sayville. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. John H. Prescott and a reception will follow at the home of Mrs. Post, 10 Bayview, E. L. Mr. Wallop is son of the Hon. Henry Wallop, of Big Horn Ranch, Sheridan County, Wyo., who married a daughter of the late Judge S. J. Walker, of Chicago. The bride is a high-bred of the Countess of Portsmouth, who arrived from England last week to attend the wedding.

Miss Beatrice Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shields Clarke, will become the bride of George Thomas Remington, September 4, in Lenox. The engagement was announced a fortnight ago.

The marriage of Mrs. Myra Ringman Miller, formerly of Long Beach, Cal., to Dr. Josiah G. Merriman, of this city, will take place August 8, in Calvary Episcopal Church. Mrs. Miller is president of the National Federation of College Women, corresponding secretary of the National Council of Women and chairman of the official committee of the National Council of Women in Christiania, Norway.

Dr. Merriman is house physician of the Bowman Hotel and lives at the Hotel Commodore. He is a graduate of Colgate. For a number of years he has held the chair of chemistry at the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, and is the author of several textbooks on this science. Mrs. Carl Erling Board, wife of Lieutenant Board, U. S. N., has come from Seattle, Wash., to attend her mother as matron of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Godwin are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter at Swanhurst, the villa of Mrs. Godwin's mother, Mrs. George L. Rives, at Newport. Mrs. Godwin was Miss Mildred Rives.

Mr. and Mrs. Jose V. Onativita, of 15 East Eighty-second Street, are at the Aspinwall Hotel, Lenox, for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradish Johnson Carroll, who are spending the summer at the Aspinwall Hotel, Lenox, are at the Aspinwall Hotel, Lenox, for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Osborn, who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Jay Schieffelin at Tranquility Park, Asheville, Me., will return to New York, early in September, to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Church Osborn.

Brigadier General and Mrs. Charles F. Roe and their daughter, Mrs. Adeline Slade, have gone to the Adirondacks to spend the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis William Rande-

On the Beach at Southampton

Mrs. Frederick Humphreys and Mrs. Stuart D. Lee snapped at the resort.

brock are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter. The child is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hugo Randebeck. Mrs. Randebeck was Miss Augusta Chapman.

Major General George O. Souer, U. S. A., arrived in town yesterday from Washington and is at the Hotel Astor over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zabriske Gray are at the Lenox Club, in the Berkshires, for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fearing, of New York, are at the Crawford House, in the White Mountains.

Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Thomas H. Brown, after a six weeks' leave of absence, which they spent in Haiti, have returned to New York and are at the Hotel Astor for a few days before going to Norfolk, Va., where Colonel Brown is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Appleton, who were guests of Mrs. Appleton's father, Charles Lanier, at his country place at Lenox, have returned to their home in Ipswich, Mass.

Newport Hears Dr. Rice Lecture on Explorations

Countess Szechenyi and Children Depart for Harry Payne Whitney Camp

NEWPORT, July 30.—Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice, lecturer on his recent explorations on the Rio Negro and upper Orinoco River, in South America, drew a brilliant gathering to the Casino Theater this evening. It was followed by a dance and supper for more than three hundred guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Rice.

The lecture was for the benefit of the local home for the aged. Mr. and Mrs. Rice have as their local guests Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Widener, of Philadelphia, as well as Mrs. Rice's son, P. A. B. Widener.

Mr. and Mrs. James Laurens Van Alen have gone to New York with their family, leaving the remainder of the summer, Commodore and Mrs. Arthur Curtis James have returned from New York on the Aloha, bringing with them Commodore Henderson, of New York, W. P. Arnold, of Waterbury, and Miss Dorothy A. Graniss, of Waterbury. Announcement has been made that Mrs. James will contribute $25,000 to the Navy Club Fund of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Andrews gave a dinner at Rocky Hall this evening. Mrs. Charles E. P. Richardson entertained at luncheon at noon today, and Mrs. James B. Duke was also a luncheon hostess.

Countess Szechenyi, who has been with her mother, Mrs. Vanderbilt, at the Breakers, left here today with her children on board the Harry Payne Whitney yacht, Whiteaway, to join Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney at their camp in the Adirondacks, at Raquet Lake.

Mt. Vernon School Board Bars Married Teachers

The Board of Education of Mount Vernon district, Dr. William Holmes, Superintendent of Schools, last night to strike from the list of persons to be appointed teachers next year the names of Mrs. Barbara Clifford and Mrs. C. J. Long, because they are married. The action of the board is to be discussed again next week.

Both women were teachers in the public schools in Mount Vernon before they were married and had good records. Dr. Holmes, who opposed the action, declared that the board could not discriminate against married teachers without reflection on the board if they should be rejected.

Clinton T. Taylor, president of the board, said that it was following the example of New York in refusing to employ married women as teachers. Women teachers were likely to marry men teachers, he said, thus doubling their salaries, and the city would be put to further expense in case children were born to them, as the salaries of the women would go on while they were incapacitated.

Mr. Taylor said that he was following the example of New York in refusing to employ married women as teachers. Women teachers were likely to marry men teachers, he said, thus doubling their salaries, and the city would be put to further expense in case children were born to them, as the salaries of the women would go on while they were incapacitated.

Jackel came to her home, 2048 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, and told her that he was an agent of the Children's Society. He offered to get her the custody of her children for $100 in advance, she said, and when she told him she already had taken them from her husband, he changed his story, saying her husband was making an effort to get the children by obtaining a writ of habeas corpus and that she must deposit $100 as evidence of her intention to appear in response to the writ.

Mrs. Marino agreed to do this and went to the home of her sister, Mrs. Franklin Thomas, at Pitkin Avenue and Herd street, where she was received $300. On the way home the impostor took the money, she said, telling her she would lose it from her pocket. Then he disappeared.

A dispatch from Saratoga sent out and Jackel's arrest followed. When arraigned in the New York Avenue Court he was held in $1,000 bail for the Court of Special Sessions.

Ferdinand of Bulgaria to Get British Securities Back

LONDON, July 30.—The Court of Appeals has decided that 400,000 worth of securities held in England by King Ferdinand of Bulgaria when the World War began should be returned to him.

The court overruled the decision of the lower court that the securities should be forfeited to the British government. The decision was based principally on the ground that the securities were private property and in no way affected the revenues of Bulgaria.

The Tribune Fresh Air Fund

A Tragic Story—Told to Open Your Pocketbook

Here's a tragic story told frankly to excite your pity and to inspire you to help The Tribune Fund in its work of relieving the distress of the poor. Although it is a true, word for word, there is no point in reading it if you haven't a tender heart and a pocketbook that opens with it.

A physical examination of Fresh Air was in progress day before yesterday at the Silver Cross Day Nursery, in East 17th Street, during a lull between the departure of one group of youngsters and the arrival of another. An anxious looking man with two hair combs and asked for the matron of the nursery.

"I'm trying to find a place to put my children for a few days," he said. "Will you take them in for me?"

"My wife is sick," he said. "I've no one to turn to to take care of them. For the last four days I've stayed away from work and walked the streets looking for a place to put them."

"This morning I took them to a institution that takes care of children and signed the papers and left them. When I got out on the street I heard them cry and went back and brought them away with me."

"Last winter my wife had the flu and pneumonia. She got partly well, then she got sick again. The doctor said she was beginning tuberculosis and sent her to Otisville. But she got worse so fast they couldn't keep her there and sent her home."

"Now she's in the hospital dying. "Since she was taken sick six months ago my little nine-year-old boy has had to mind these two boys and look after the house while I was at work. She's all worn out and thinner than rail. She'll go the way her mother's going if I don't do something."

"Can you take care of the boys for me and give them a chance to look around for a place for me? If I don't go back to work I'll lose my job."

The Tribune Fund examiner had listened to the story and had experienced the two boys were, as she put it, "on the border line of TB."

"Would you like to send the boys and the girl to the country for a vacation?" she asked.

"It would be a godsend, but how could I do it?"

The ways of the Fresh Air Fund were explained to him, and he was sent home to bring back the nine-year-old daughter.

And she—

"I fairly gasped when I saw her," the examiner said. "Of all the thousands of children I've examined this summer she was the thinnest and frailest in appearance. Her face was no wider than my hand. Her father was right; she will go the way her mother is going if something isn't done for her."

To-day the three children are up in the Berkshires at play, while the father has a chance to put his house in order.

Contributions, preferably by check or money order, should be sent to The Tribune Fresh Air Fund, The Tribune, New York City.

Pilgrim Fathers' Fete Planned Here Aug. 26-28

Celebration Will Be Attended by Delegation of Prominent Englishmen

The Pilgrimage Institution sent yesterday a call to museums, libraries, historical societies, zoological and botanical gardens and similar institutions to hold a series of exhibitions during the next few weeks commemorative of the first American legislative assembly, the Mayflower Compact and the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers. The call is a part of the general program for the celebration of the international tercentenary, and was issued on the 30th anniversary of the convening of the first assembly at Jamestown, July 30, 1620.

Although it previously had been announced that the program for the celebration would start yesterday, it was pointed out at the headquarters of the Pilgrimage Institution, in the Woolworth Building, that the program for the celebration, which is not only national but international, has really been in progress since June 4.

On August 26 and 28 a reception and celebration will be held in this city, in which will participate a delegation of prominent Englishmen. Following this, the British representatives will go to Provincetown, where festivities will be held on August 28 and 29. Buffalo and the Niagara frontier will be the scene of the tercentenary pageants and historical reconstructions on September 24 and 25. Detroit and San Francisco already have held celebrations.

It also was announced that the historical collection of the late J. P. Morgan would be placed on exhibit for the public at the late financier's home here soon. The collection contains many objects connected with the Pilgrimage, when the Pilgrims sought refuge here and established the nation's first government.

Women to Use Elephants' Heads to Gather Funds

Republican Leaders Here Introduce Novel Idea for Coin Holders

Elephants' heads as coin holders are the latest device of the Republican party for gathering campaign contributions. At the meeting of Mrs. Charles H. Sabers, vice-chairman for New York City of the ways and means committee, hundreds of cardboard coin holders were shown to contain four cents each, and the women were urged to contribute to the women voters of the city.

On the reverse side is an inscription. To Harding and Coolidge. The policy of the women who designed the coin holder is that "a little from everybody is better than large contributions from a few."

The first of the elephants' heads will be distributed at the meeting of the Republican Women's Executive Committee Monday afternoon at the Hotel Vanderbilt. Mrs. Laura Skinner, chairman of the campaign committee, will open a model placing place, with inspectors and tellers in attendance, to explain the process of getting.

Mrs. Rosalie Louise Whitney will speak on the Republican platform, which she helped draft at Saratoga.

Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. William Van Noy will open their school for the American Fund for Jewish War Sufferers, received a cable message yesterday notifying him that Harriet B. Lowenstein, who was in London for the committee, was married there on July 9 to Jonah Goldstein.

Miss Lowenstein is an attorney and was the first woman to become a certified public accountant in this state. She lives at 2 Madison Street, also is an attorney. They are returning to New York from the New Amsterdam.

Woman Worker for Jewish Fund Is Married in London

Feil M. Warburg, chairman of the joint distribution committee of the American Fund for Jewish War Sufferers, received a cable message yesterday notifying him that Harriet B. Lowenstein, who was in London for the committee, was married there on July 9 to Jonah Goldstein.

Miss Lowenstein is an attorney and was the first woman to become a certified public accountant in this state. She lives at 2 Madison Street, also is an attorney. They are returning to New York from the New Amsterdam.

Woman Worker for Jewish Fund Is Married in London

Feil M. Warburg, chairman of the joint distribution committee of the American Fund for Jewish War Sufferers, received a cable message yesterday notifying him that Harriet B. Lowenstein, who was in London for the committee, was married there on July 9 to Jonah Goldstein.

Miss Lowenstein is an attorney and was the first woman to become a certified public accountant in this state. She lives at 2 Madison Street, also is an attorney. They are returning to New York from the New Amsterdam.

Woman Worker for Jewish Fund Is Married in London

Feil M. Warburg, chairman of the joint distribution committee of the American Fund for Jewish War Sufferers, received a cable message yesterday notifying him that Harriet B. Lowenstein, who was in London for the committee, was married there on July 9 to Jonah Goldstein.

Miss Lowenstein is an attorney and was the first woman to become a certified public accountant in this state. She lives at 2 Madison Street, also is an attorney. They are returning to New York from the New Amsterdam.

Woman Worker for Jewish Fund Is Married in London

Mrs. George O. Haig Dies in American Hospital in France

Widow of Whisky Merchant and Divorced Wife of J. Coleman Drayton Was William Astor's Daughter

PARIS, July 30.—Mrs. George O. Haig, of London, who before her marriage was Miss Charlotte Astor, died in the American Hospital, at Neuilly, at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Marshall Orme Wilson, of New York City, her sister, was at the bedside. She was first reported seriously ill, June 22, last.

Mrs. George O. Haig was the third of the five children of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Astor and was born in New York about sixty years ago. Her mother was the recognized leader of the New York and Newport society. Mrs. Haig's first marriage was to J. Coleman Drayton, a wealthy Philadelphian in 1870, when she was twenty-one.

In 1890 New York society was startled by the announcement that Mr. Drayton contemplated divorce from his wife, who was then taking her place to a duel in 1890 with her brother, Hallett Alsop Burrows. Soon after Drayton took his wife and three children abroad, but Burrows followed.

Drayton was charged by Drayton to a duel in 1890 with her brother, Hallett Alsop Burrows. Soon after Drayton took his wife and three children abroad, but Burrows followed.

When Mrs. Haig's father, William Astor, died, it was found that he had married her although she was already married. Her only brother, the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Drayton's application for a divorce was filed in 1890 with Burrows named as a co-respondent, but Mrs. Haig brought a counter-suit charging desertion. The former abandoned his wife and left Mrs. Haig with her case by default.

Meanwhile Mrs. Drayton remained in Europe coming to New York occasionally on matters connected with her suit. Her mother, Mrs. William Astor, made one or two attempts to reintroduce her to New York society, notably by giving her a luncheon at Newport in the summer of 1894.

In December, 1905, Mrs. Haig married George O. Haig, who died in December, 1905. The wedding took place in London and was attended by many English and French guests. One of the friends of Mrs. Haig was the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Drayton's application for a divorce was filed in 1890 with Burrows named as a co-respondent, but Mrs. Haig brought a counter-suit charging desertion. The former abandoned his wife and left Mrs. Haig with her case by default.

Meanwhile Mrs. Drayton remained in Europe coming to New York occasionally on matters connected with her suit. Her mother, Mrs. William Astor, made one or two attempts to reintroduce her to New York society, notably by giving her a luncheon at Newport in the summer of 1894.

In December, 1905, Mrs. Haig married George O. Haig, who died in December, 1905. The wedding took place in London and was attended by many English and French guests. One of the friends of Mrs. Haig was the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Drayton's application for a divorce was filed in 1890 with Burrows named as a co-respondent, but Mrs. Haig brought a counter-suit charging desertion. The former abandoned his wife and left Mrs. Haig with her case by default.

Meanwhile Mrs. Drayton remained in Europe coming to New York occasionally on matters connected with her suit. Her mother, Mrs. William Astor, made one or two attempts to reintroduce her to New York society, notably by giving her a luncheon at Newport in the summer of 1894.

In December, 1905, Mrs. Haig married George O. Haig, who died in December, 1905. The wedding took place in London and was attended by many English and French guests. One of the friends of Mrs. Haig was the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Drayton's application for a divorce was filed in 1890 with Burrows named as a co-respondent, but Mrs. Haig brought a counter-suit charging desertion. The former abandoned his wife and left Mrs. Haig with her case by default.

Meanwhile Mrs. Drayton remained in Europe coming to New York occasionally on matters connected with her suit. Her mother, Mrs. William Astor, made one or two attempts to reintroduce her to New York society, notably by giving her a luncheon at Newport in the summer of 1894.

In December, 1905, Mrs. Haig married George O. Haig, who died in December, 1905. The wedding took place in London and was attended by many English and French guests. One of the friends of Mrs. Haig was the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Drayton's application for a divorce was filed in 1890 with Burrows named as a co-respondent, but Mrs. Haig brought a counter-suit charging desertion. The former abandoned his wife and left Mrs. Haig with her case by default.

Meanwhile Mrs. Drayton remained in Europe coming to New York occasionally on matters connected with her suit. Her mother, Mrs. William Astor, made one or two attempts to reintroduce her to New York society, notably by giving her a luncheon at Newport in the summer of 1894.

In December, 1905, Mrs. Haig married George O. Haig, who died in December, 1905. The wedding took place in London and was attended by many English and French guests. One of the friends of Mrs. Haig was the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Drayton's application for a divorce was filed in 1890 with Burrows named as a co-respondent, but Mrs. Haig brought a counter-suit charging desertion. The former abandoned his wife and left Mrs. Haig with her case by default.

Meanwhile Mrs. Drayton remained in Europe coming to New York occasionally on matters connected with her suit. Her mother, Mrs. William Astor, made one or two attempts to reintroduce her to New York society, notably by giving her a luncheon at Newport in the summer of 1894.

In December, 1905, Mrs. Haig married George O. Haig, who died in December, 1905. The wedding took place in London and was attended by many English and French guests. One of the friends of Mrs. Haig was the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Drayton's application for a divorce was filed in 1890 with Burrows named as a co-respondent, but Mrs. Haig brought a counter-suit charging desertion. The former abandoned his wife and left Mrs. Haig with her case by default.

Meanwhile Mrs. Drayton remained in Europe coming to New York occasionally on matters connected with her suit. Her mother, Mrs. William Astor, made one or two attempts to reintroduce her to New York society, notably by giving her a luncheon at Newport in the summer of 1894.

In December, 1905, Mrs. Haig married George O. Haig, who died in December, 1905. The wedding took place in London and was attended by many English and French guests. One of the friends of Mrs. Haig was the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Drayton's application for a divorce was filed in 1890 with Burrows named as a co-respondent, but Mrs. Haig brought a counter-suit charging desertion. The former abandoned his wife and left Mrs. Haig with her case by default.

Meanwhile Mrs. Drayton remained in Europe coming to New York occasionally on matters connected with her suit. Her mother, Mrs. William Astor, made one or two attempts to reintroduce her to New York society, notably by giving her a luncheon at Newport in the summer of 1894.

In December, 1905, Mrs. Haig married George O. Haig, who died in December, 1905. The wedding took place in London and was attended by many English and French guests. One of the friends of Mrs. Haig was the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Drayton's application for a divorce was filed in 1890 with Burrows named as a co-respondent, but Mrs. Haig brought a counter-suit charging desertion. The former abandoned his wife and left Mrs. Haig with her case by default.

Meanwhile Mrs. Drayton remained in Europe coming to New York occasionally on matters connected with her suit. Her mother, Mrs. William Astor, made one or two attempts to reintroduce her to New York society, notably by giving her a luncheon at Newport in the summer of 1894.

In December, 1905, Mrs. Haig married George O. Haig, who died in December, 1905. The wedding took place in London and was attended by many English and French guests. One of the friends of Mrs. Haig was the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Drayton's application for a divorce was filed in 1890 with Burrows named as a co-respondent, but Mrs. Haig brought a counter-suit charging desertion. The former abandoned his wife and left Mrs. Haig with her case by default.

Meanwhile Mrs. Drayton remained in Europe coming to New York occasionally on matters connected with her suit. Her mother, Mrs. William Astor, made one or two attempts to reintroduce her to New York society, notably by giving her a luncheon at Newport in the summer of 1894.

In December, 1905, Mrs. Haig married George O. Haig, who died in December, 1905. The wedding took place in London and was attended by many English and French guests. One of the friends of Mrs. Haig was the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Drayton's application for a divorce was filed in 1890 with Burrows named as a co-respondent, but Mrs. Haig brought a counter-suit charging desertion. The former abandoned his wife and left Mrs. Haig with her case by default.

Meanwhile Mrs. Drayton remained in Europe coming to New York occasionally on matters connected with her suit. Her mother, Mrs. William Astor, made one or two attempts to reintroduce her to New York society, notably by giving her a luncheon at Newport in the summer of 1894.

In December, 1905, Mrs. Haig married George O. Haig, who died in December, 1905. The wedding took place in London and was attended by many English and French guests. One of the friends of Mrs. Haig was the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Drayton's application for a divorce was filed in 1890 with Burrows named as a co-respondent, but Mrs. Haig brought a counter-suit charging desertion. The former abandoned his wife and left Mrs. Haig with her case by default.

Meanwhile Mrs. Drayton remained in Europe coming to New York occasionally on matters connected with her suit. Her mother, Mrs. William Astor, made one or two attempts to reintroduce her to New York society, notably by giving her a luncheon at Newport in the summer of 1894.

In December, 1905, Mrs. Haig married George O. Haig, who died in December, 1905. The wedding took place in London and was attended by many English and French guests. One of the friends of Mrs. Haig was the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Drayton's application for a divorce was filed in 1890 with Burrows named as a co-respondent, but Mrs. Haig brought a counter-suit charging desertion. The former abandoned his wife and left Mrs. Haig with her case by default.

Meanwhile Mrs. Drayton remained in Europe coming to New York occasionally on matters connected with her suit. Her mother, Mrs. William Astor, made one or two attempts to reintroduce her to New York society, notably by giving her a luncheon at Newport in the summer of 1894.

In December, 1905, Mrs. Haig married George O. Haig, who died in December, 1905. The wedding took place in London and was attended by many English and French guests. One of the friends of Mrs. Haig was the late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, subsequently settled $1,000,000 upon her.

Explosions at Sea Prove Oil Fires; U. S. Tanker Safe

American Ship Believed to Have Been Destroyed by Blast Reports All Well; Schooner Solves Mystery

The American tank steamship Kekuhi, of the Columbus Shipping Company, which was believed by her owners to have blown up at sea off Avalon, N. J., was reported by radio yesterday as safely proceeding on her way to Mexico. Captain J. Robertson sent a radio, which was picked up by the Naval Communication Service, saying the vessel had passed Jupiter Light at 1 a. m. and that all on board were well.

An explosion was observed off Avalon last Tuesday, and it was feared by the officials of the Columbus Shipping Company that it was their vessel that had been destroyed. This announcement was made Thursday after the company had failed to locate the Kekuhi by radio.

The mystery was finally dissipated at Atlantic City last night when the fishing schooner Mackintosh, Captain George Painter, from Buford, S. C., arrived.

Captain Painter said the Mackintosh was fishing off Avalon and was seriously hampered by the masses of oil floating on the surface of the sea from the tanker Kekuhi, which grounded off the Brigantine Shoals last Friday and succeeded in floating off by discharging 1,000 tons of oil from her tanks.

This oil drifted northward along the shore and the engineer of the Mackintosh oiled up a large bundle of waste, set it blazing and tossed it into the floating oil.

Instantly there was a flare and the whole sea appeared to be on fire, forcing the Mackintosh to flee as fast as her engine would take her. The fire ran from streak to streak and from pool to pool of the floating oil, giving the impression of a series of explosions which were reported to the Coast Guard stations along shore.

Declares for "Open Shop"

Chamber of Commerce Also Denounces